Imagining Eden Connecting Landscapes

Lyle Gomes
*With an introduction by Denis Cosgrove and an interview with the photographer
by Karen Sinsheimer*

“Lyle Gomes’s delicate black-and-white photos of fabricated Arcadias, paired with well-chosen historical quotes, echo with history and offer a quiet reproach to much contemporary landscape photography. Pieces of Eden can turn up where you least expect them.”—Drew Heath Johnson, Curator of Photography, Oakland Museum of California

60 duotone photographs
$49.95 cloth

The Last Undiscovered Place

David K. Leff

“This is a kind of folk archeology that I love. In a nation now nearly catatonic from the ravages of suburbia, Leff does a fine job of recovering the lost memories, textures, rhythms, flavors, and feelings of authentic town life.”—James Howard Kunstler, author of *The Geography of Nowhere

11 b&w illustrations
$27.95 cloth

Literature of Place Dwelling on the Land before Earth Day 1970

Melanie L. Simo

“No other book treats the historiography of place as Melanie Simo does in this engaging and thoughtful work. By introducing unexpected or little-known texts—try E. B. White alongside Jane Jacobs—she freshens and deepens our understanding of how Americans have written about landscape, place, and nature.”—Mac Keith Griswold, garden historian and writer

15 b&w illustrations
$39.50 cloth

Re-creating the American Past

Essays on the Colonial Revival

Edited by Richard Guy Wilson,
Shaun Eyring, and Kenny Marotta

“Re-creating the American Past, a genuinely major achievement, provides a fresh and rich look at the diversity, complexity, and pervasive appeal of the Colonial Revival in American cultural life. These essays and well-documented case studies offer us a kaleidoscopic vision of a multifaceted phenomenon. The volume is an invaluable resource that will be admired and mined for decades to come.”—Michael Kammen, Professor of American History and Culture, Cornell University

132 b&w illustrations
$49.50 cloth

New in paperback Lots of Parking Land Use in a Car Culture

John A. Jakle and Keith A. Sculle

“For anyone interested in automobile history and the growth of cities and suburbs, this will be a readable and enjoyable book. It is peppered with facts that will drive friends and relations crazy: the first commercial parking lot appeared in downtown Detroit in 1924; Chicago in 1998 issued four million parking tickets generating 175 million dollars in revenue. . . . There is very little written on this subject and nothing really current, making Lots of Parking a must purchase for all libraries.”—Choice

Published in association with the Center for American Places

80 b&w illustrations
$18.95 paper

Available in paperback New Orleans The Making of an Urban Landscape Second Edition

Peirce F. Lewis

“A city of legend, a legendary geographer, and a landscape loved by America’s legions of place-cherishers: These come together in Peirce Lewis’s timely revision of New Orleans.”—Paul F. Starrs, University of Nevada

Center for American Places
$22.50 paper, $49.50 cloth
